

Getting Your Prescription Medication During a Disaster

It is important to have in your Disaster Survival Kit your prescribed medicines. But, what happens when there is an emergency and your insurance company says it is too early for you to get a refill?

The “Emergency Prescription Refill” law lets you refill your prescribed medicines during a disaster if your county:

- Is currently under a hurricane warning issued by the National Weather Service
- Is declared to be under a state of emergency in an executive order issued by the governor or
- Has started its emergency operations center and its emergency management plan

During a storm, you should listen to the radio or news on television to know if any of the above conditions are going to occur.

This law also allows patients outside of these areas to get an emergency 72-hour refill if the pharmacist is unable to quickly get an approval from the doctor for a refill. Please talk with your doctor and pharmacist now about how this new law can help you.

Make sure you are ready this hurricane season by having a list of all your medicines, including the name of the doctor who wrote the prescription, the name of the drug, the amount of medicine to take and the name and location of your pharmacy.
